IMPACT OF YOUR EVENT

As part of the mandate of the CoE-MaSS, we have to report to the DST-NRF about how your event has contributed to the following 5 categories:

1. Research Please advise how your event has led to research being undertaken that focusses on the creation and development of new knowledge and technology. Please list all research activities that took place (keynotes, seminars, etc.) and to whom these were offered. Appendices like copies of attendance registers are important supporting documents. In line with the DST transformation requirements, please also outline whether the event (i) focussed on addressing capacity development of female participants, and/or whether (ii) research projects focussed on gender-related research.	Our speakers are local and international experts in the fiel PhD candidates, lecturers/professors and Universities, or R Our attendees are primarily postgraduate students, but als lecturers, and general industry (e.g. data science, economi The IndabaX focuses on knowledge dissemination and com The latest results from academia and industry are presente Furthermore, we had tutorial sessions on the state of the a theory and applications, to empower the next generation. The IndabaX actively sought females and previously disadv attendees. We had 40% women for speakers and 32.6% fo transgender, intersex, or undisclosed). We did not have projects explicitly focused on gender-rela
2. Education and training Please advise how your event has contributed towards human capital development (supporting postgrads, postdocs, interns and research staff). This could include support for students to study abroad and joint ventures in student training. It will include efforts target the development of high level scarce skills. In creating, broadening and deepening research capacity, a CoE needs to pay particular attention to racial and gender disparities while seeking the inclusion of people with disabilities. Please highlight overall demographic trends as a narrative in this section. Please ensure that you list the names, Institutions, race, gender, and nationality of those supported for in the "Who was funded?" section below. Please add additional lines/pages to the list if necessary.	Along with sharing the latest research from experts in mac tutorials for people to learn about a specific topic or tool. Some of our tutorials include "XXXX" In addition to the tutorials, we also had 3 hackathons wher new tools, and apply what they've learnt during the indaba Our gender representation was better than the expected a improved next time. Our racial representation was closely split between black a events. This might reflect the demographic of ML students Pretoria, where we held our event last year and saw a maj (~87.3 %).
3. Service rendering Please advise how your event has provided and analysed strategic information for policy development, as well as other services including informed and reliable advice to government, business and civil society.	As a central gathering point for the machine learning comr provide the occasion for people to discuss latest trends an foremost ML researchers, including Vukosi Marivate and Ja "Grassroots research". These are important topics/initiativ that are shaping how ML research is done globally and hov unique circumstances to gain an edge.
4. Information brokerage Please advise how your event has provided access to a highly developed pool of knowledge, maintaining data bases, promoting knowledge sharing and knowledge transfer, etc.	Our speakers are experts in the field of ML. We also selecte eager to connect with the community and share their knov awesome they are without promoting knowledge sharing). Most speakers have also agreed to have their talks recorde shortly, the IndabaX needs to finish uploading them. Altho to logistical restrictions.
5. Networking	Although we can't comment on collaborations that have d event so early after its occurrence, we actively push the co

Please advise how your event has led to active collaboration with reputable individuals, groups and institutions. Equally, how did it negotiate and help realise national, regional, continental and international partnerships, etc. Please feel free to refer to policy documents (e.g. National Development Plan, Millennium Development Goals, etc.).	that connections have arisen from our past events from talking v were attendees at the previous IndabaXs.

* Please add in additional lines, as required.

FOR RESEARCH PROJECTS ONLY:

Please advise on how well the project milestones, aims, and objectives were achieved:

NATIONAL IMPERATIVES

Does your research/event focus on one/more of the Sustainable Development goals?

☐GOAL 1: No Poverty
☐GOAL 2: Zero Hunger
☐GOAL 3: Good Health and Well-being
X GOAL 4: Quality Education
X GOAL 5: Gender Equality
☐GOAL 6: Clean Water and Sanitation
☐GOAL 7: Affordable and Clean Energy
X GOAL 8: Decent Work and Economic Growth
X GOAL 9: Industry, Innovation and Infrastructure
X GOAL 10: Reduced Inequality
☐GOAL 11: Sustainable Cities and Communities
☐GOAL 12: Responsible Consumption and Production
☐GOAL 13: Climate Action
☐GOAL 14: Life Below Water
☐GOAL 15: Life on Land
☐GOAL 16: Peace and Justice Strong Institutions
☐GOAL 17: Partnerships to achieve the Goal

Does your research/event affect one of the DSI's National Imperatives?

National Imperative	Yes	No	If yes, please explain
1. Transformation	X		We are actively promoting black, women, and black women in tech. When selecting speakers and who to fund for the event, we prioritised those groups. The IndabaX is therefore one of the most diverse tech gatherings in South Africa.
2. Poverty Alleviation	X		Although not direct, training students with advanced machine learning skills means that they are more likely to get a high-paying job because data science and machine learning are in demand. In addition, many projects presented are aimed at applying ML to low-resource settings to alleviate inequalities.

3. Poverty	X		Related to poverty alleviation, we aim to upskill attendees and also put them in contact with industry sponsors of the event with the goal and research generation and job creation
